Jump house rentals can be the perfect way to add some excitement and exercise to your next party. Kids love to jump around, and they love to play inside of them. They will bounce all over, and will probably be bouncing for hours! These rentals are inexpensive and can make any party a hit! Just make sure you consider the safety and insurance details before renting a bounce house rental. It's worth the money to add some excitement to your event!

When renting a bounce house, be sure to ask the bounce house rental company to install it on grass. Grass surfaces are easier on bounce houses, and they're safer for jumpers. Although most bounce house rental companies won't put a bounce house on rocky ground, some are suitable for indoor locations. Large open rooms at convention centers are great places to set up an indoor bounce house. The temperature will remain cooler and the jumpers will be able to enjoy the bounce house without the hassle of a hot, sweaty day.
